

CIRCLING EARTH, VETS STOP HERE

1,041 Czecho-Slavs to Arrive Tonight and Remain Until Monday.

Ending the second lap of their journey around the world, 1,041 Czecho-Slovak veterans of one of the most remarkable military organizations in modern history, will arrive in Washington tonight, and will remain at Camp Meigs until Sunday morning when they leave for Newport News to embark for their native land.

These troops arrived from Vladivostok on the steamship Nanking July 1, at San Diego, Cal., and were escorted to Camp Kearney by the band of the Thirty-seventh Infantry. There they awoke the admiration of Americans not only on account of their sturdy build, a few wounds and the ravages of war, but also by their singing of their national air and folk songs.

They will be met at the Union Station by Charles Ferguson, the commissioner in the United States of the Czecho-Slovak nation, and Maj. Stewart W. Cramer, division of operations, General Staff of the War Department, representing the United States.

President Wilson will review the unit tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in front of the White House. They will march up Pennsylvania avenue past the reviewing stand to a point not as yet determined.

WILLIAMS DENIES HE PLAYED FAVORITES IN RED CROSS DEPOSITS

H. S. Bird, assistant treasurer of the American Red Cross, covering the transaction.

In the letters Mr. Bird informed Mr. Williams that the funds had been placed in the Federal National Bank through an error and removed under order from his office, immediately after the discovery of the error.

It had been the custom, Bird wrote, of the Red Cross division managers to place funds of the organization, subject to their check, in various banks throughout the country, avoiding in every case, however, having funds in more than one bank of a city or two sets of funds in one bank.

At the time of the depositing of the $60,000 in the Federal National Bank of the Potomac division of the Red Cross, the same bank had in its keeping the funds of the foreign division of the organization and the funds were removed to prevent confusion of the two accounts.

Mr. Bird emphatically stated that Mr. Williams knew nothing of the transaction at the time.

In answer to Mr. Poole's charges that the Federal National Bank had been discriminated against by him, the Comptroller submitted figures showing that between February, 1918, and February, 1919, the average deposit of the Red Cross in the Federal Bank had been $2,785.55.

E. C. Hancke, second assistant treasurer of the American Red Cross, in a letter written to Mr. Williams recently, said the fluctuation of balance in the Federal National Bank averaged about the same as in other banks where division deposits were made.

In answer to charges of misadministration brought against his office, Mr. Williams submitted a letter and documents he had sent to Senator Owens on June 25, 1919.

A. Jones, president of the First National Bank of Uniontown, Pa., at the morning session charged the Comptroller with having failed to administer the assets of the bank to the best interest of the stockholders at the time doors of the bank were closed.

Following Mr. Jones, Jesse C. Adkins, Assistant Attorney General of the United States at the time of the Riggs National Bank's suit against Williams, took the stand.

Mr. Adkins testified concerning the controversy between the Riggs Bank and the Comptroller, declaring it began with an attempt by the Comptroller to obtain information concerning certain alleged violations of the banking law on the part of the bank.

The witness explained the charges brought by the bank in detail. The committee adjourned until tomorrow morning.

DANCE IN CELL MAY TEST NEW

Unique Method to Disprove Story of Alleged Slayer Planned by Police.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—If Harry S. New, alleged murderer of Frieda Lesser, his sweetheart, danced at Camp Topanga on the night Miss Lesser died, he will have a chance to dance again—this time in his county jail cell with Miss Hazel Pritchard, pretty stenographer, who thought she danced with New on the night of the murder.

This developed today when the district attorney announced he would insist Miss Pritchard visit New in his cell and see if she could identify him. She will even be permitted to dance with him in jail, it was declared, if it will aid in the identification.

The defense today maintained its policy of silence and refused to discuss any feature of the case. Many rumors of Miss Lesser having had suitors other than New, and even of one of these having warned New not to be attentive to her, were in circulation, based largely on stories of Miss Lesser's acquaintances.

So far, however, none of the alleged rivals for Miss Lesser's favor has been identified.

Indications today were that the district attorney plans to demand the death penalty for New. On the other hand, despite his written confession, New will plead not guilty when arraigned Friday, it was said. The trial, according to court officials, probably will be held in September.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 15.—Street sweepers of Oklahoma City said today they would go to the assistance of their former co-worker, Harry S. New, jailed in Los Angeles on a charge of killing his sweetheart, Frieda Lesser.

Now, who said he was the son of Senator Harry S. New, was a street sweeper here for two years, according to "Uncle Tom" Shumake, who claimed to have been the prisoner's "buddy." Shumake still serves as sweeper, and he said today he would make the trip to California to assist his friend.

According to the old man, New came here fresh from Notre Dame University and worked in the streets in spite of fun poked at him.

May Seek Facts Abroad.
It is understood here that all the data requested by the resolution, as well as that asked for in the Lodge and Johnson resolutions, has been laid before the French chamber of deputies by Premier Clemenceau. Therefore, if the State Department should decline to give out this information, it is probable a way will be found to obtain it from abroad.

Regarding the alleged secret treaty between Japan and Germany, Senator Borah is of the opinion that although it may have been projected, there never was any intention of making it effective. He believes it was merely part of the propaganda carried on by Japan against England for the purpose of forcing England to sign the treaty in which England agreed to support the Japanese claims to Shantung.

The Foreign Relations Committee made rapid progress yesterday in reading the treaty, and it is believed it will be finished this week. Only three of the Democratic members attended the session, and one of the three, Senator Hitchcock, was there only fifteen minutes. The other Democrats present were Pomerene and Williams.

Republican members of the committee severely criticized the Democrats for their apparent indifference to the treaty, despite the fact that all have announced themselves as ready to vote for it without alteration or amendment. Most of them have not read the text of it.

The prospect of their doing other matters in the treaty which will excite opposition was indicated by Senator Lodge, who made this statement:

"The country hasn't the faintest conception of what the treaty contains. I have been amazed to find the number of things in which the United States is involved in the machinery of enforcement."

Senator Lodge agrees with Senator Fall's statement of a few days ago to the effect that the treaty would be stronger without the league of nations attached to it. In nearly every instance, it was pointed out, the duty of enforcement of the provisions of the treaty is left to the five principal allied and associated powers rather than to the league. The notable exception is the Saar Valley, the jurisdiction of which is vested in the league of nations.

What Is Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

Sufferers Should Realize That It Is a Blood Infection and Can Be Permanently Relieved.

Rheumatism means that the blood has become saturated with uric acid poison.

It does not require medical advice to know that good health is absolutely dependent upon pure blood. When the muscles and joints become sore and drawn with rheumatism, it is not a wise thing to take a little salve and by rubbing it on the sore spot expect to get rid of your rheumatism. You must go deeper than that,

TURNER THROWS HAT INTO RING

Illinois Man Challenges the Right of Gov. Lowden As the Favorite Son.

Another hat is in the Republican Presidential ring, the candidacy of Rev. Daniel B. Turney, of Decatur, Illinois, being announced in Washington last night.

Turney may challenge the right of Governor Lowden to call himself Illinois' favorite son, since he has already been endorsed by the Illinois suffragists.

Before her death Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the suffragist leader gave the Rev. Mr. Turney her endorsement.

For those practical politicians who might ask "Who is Turney?" his biography cites he was the nominee of the United Christians for President in 1908 and was renominated in 1912. No mention is made of the vote he received.

PEACE PACT FIGHT REVOLVING ABOUT SHANTUNG AWARD

tion asking for all the data relative to Japan's alleged negotiations with Germany during the war. Other developments, which show how strongly the Shantung matter has impressed itself upon the senators, were:

1. In the session of the Foreign Relations Committee, which is considering the treaty, reservations on the entire article relating to Shantung were made by Senators Moses and Fall. This means that when the committee returns to consider this article Senators Fall and Moses may submit amendments to the resolution of ratification which will cover the objections of the Senate to the award.

2. Senator Spencer announced that he will introduce in the Senate today a resolution deploring the action of the American peace commissioners in agreeing to the Shantung award and expressing the disapproval of the Senate to the same.

3. Senator Sherman stated that he will address the Senate at today's session on the Shantung case and will present some new data showing how China was "robbed."

4. Acting Secretary Polk announced that he will answer the Lodge resolution, although he insists that Senator Lodge is in error in saying that the State Department has a copy of the purported treaty between Japan and Germany.

5. The Foreign Relations Committee directed Senator Lodge to procure from the State Department the treaty of 1896 between Germany and China and the treaty of 1915 between Japan and China under which the rights acquired by Germany in 1896 were passed to Japan. This information is desired by the committee to complete the "history" of the Shantung case.

Senator Borah's resolution asking about the protest said to have been filed by Secretary Lansing, Gen. Bliss and Henry White against the Shantung decision probably will be up for discussion in the Senate today. Senator Borah said yesterday he had been informed by a personal friend in this country who saw the protest that it was filed with the Peace Conference and is part of the official record.

It is understood here that all the data requested by the resolution, as well as that asked for in the Lodge and Johnson resolutions, has been laid before the French chamber of deputies by Premier Clemenceau. Therefore, if the State Department should decline to give out this information, it is probable a way will be found to obtain it from abroad.

CIGARETTE SMOKERS of America: Crack this nut in your own teeth

If there were any other tobacco in the world as mild or as good for cigarettes as Turkish tobacco—do you think that S. Anargyros would maintain a small army of trained experts in the Orient, 4000 miles from home—to select, buy, grade and pack Turkish tobacco—then pay ocean freight, plus 35c a pound import duty?

Of course not—nor would our competitors use a single leaf of Turkish tobacco if in any other tobacco grown they could find a substitute for the "dash" of Turkish which they put into their "bundle" cigarettes to make them smokable—and without which they would be lost.

Our competitors know all this. They harp on "part Turkish" and "blend of Turkish" and "paper packages" in place of a box. In fact they make many skillful apologies, which they hope will in part take the place of 100% Pure Turkish Tobacco.

Now here is the nut—and we will crack it for you.

Murads are 100% Pure Turkish Tobacco, the World's most famous Tobacco for cigarettes. They are the proverbial "whole loaf"—not half loaf or part of a loaf.

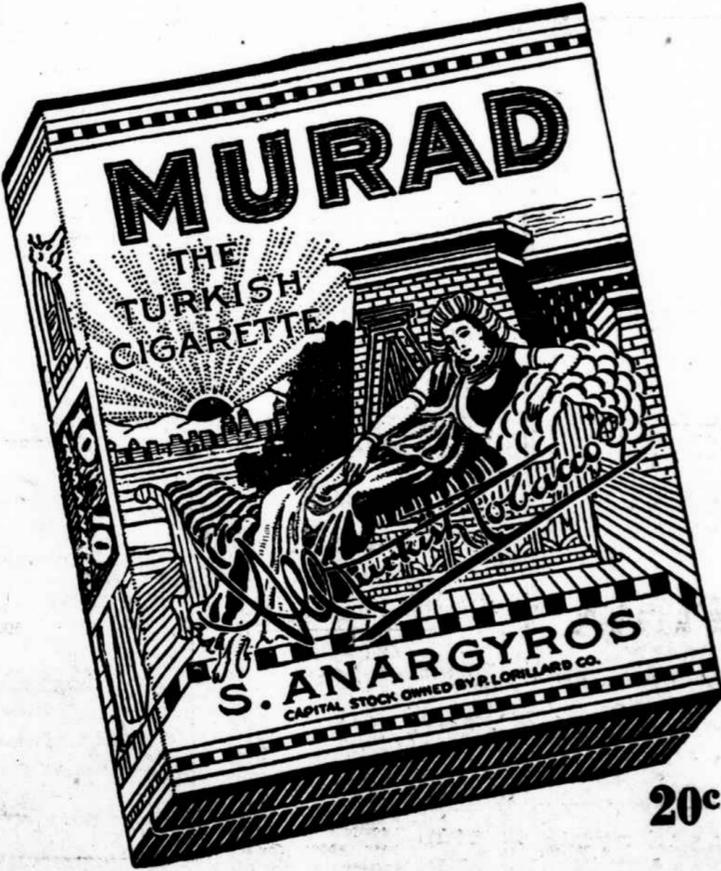

They are, for protection, packed in cardboard boxes. A hen lays her eggs in a shell for protection. If you prefer them without the shell, you get scant protection and much scrambling.

You ask the question, "Are Murads so much better than the other kind of cigarettes?" The answer is: More than twice as good—and we have here told you why.

Are Murad 100% pure Turkish "whole loaf" cigarettes more expensive? YES. All 100% good things cost more and are worth more than half good or imitation good.

Cigarette smokers of America: People of your class and enlightenment know these things and appreciate them. We are proud to say to you that ordinary cigarettes cost a trifle less than Murads. Think it over. The reasons are before you. Judge for yourself! In the long run the public makes no mistakes.

Remember, every package of Murad is sold under a guarantee.
